I met Sherry about 14 years ago when we both were attending Dar Richardson's grief support group. She taught me to paint and we had some really good times together over the years. I so appreciated her spunky attitude. I will miss her.

There are lots of memories that I have of Aunt Sherry. Too many to write here. But I'm 2006, I was in a play called Alice in wonderland. She and I would spend hours at her home rehearsing and memorizing my lines We both would start laughing when I would screw up my lines and adlib until I got on track again
